TELEVIC CONFERENCE TAKES CONFERENCE ROOM FLEXIBILITY TO THE NEXT LEVEL WITH A NEW CENTRAL ENGINE

Izegem (Belgium), March 26, 2018 – TELEVIC CONFERENCE introduces Plixus AE-R, a brand-new central engine that combines full conference functionality with a lightweight design. The new engine no longer requires a pc during the meeting and makes it easy to combine wired and wireless setups. It also gives users a brand-new and easy to use interface that makes it easy to configure, manage, and record meetings.

Says Didier Rosez, Product Manager for Televic Conference: "Our brand-new Plixus AE-R engine is the cornerstone of unparalleled flexibility. Combining wired and wireless solutions in one install, easily splitting or combining different wireless rooms, extending the range of your wireless conference network: it's all possible."

The new Plixus AE-R engine comes a simple volume dial and a record button on the front to keep things streamlined. The engine's web server gives users access to full meeting functionality in a brand-new interface. "The web server was designed from scratch to make management and configuration easy and straightforward", says Ronan Dezyn, Product Manager for Televic Conference. He adds: "Multichannel recording of 4 audio streams on internal memory or external USB disk can be achieved with just one click."

In the end, the new engine gives integrators options to design more flexible meeting rooms. “Plixus AE-R is a versatile tool in our conference architecture. By opening up exciting possibilities to work with wired and wireless environments, we provide customers with the freedom to design conference solutions that best fit their needs”, says Bart De Ruyck, Televic Conference Product Marketing Specialist.
